DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The spring has been engulfed by a series of heavy commercial and industrial yards. Highway widenings, etc., have turned the area into a small, trash-filled, swampy ravine. The WSSC has a sewage pumping station here now.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This was a celebrated spring, that was visited for its supposed curative powers. During the 1860's, a real estate venture known as "Spa City" was formed to sell residential lots here to city dwellers. This was one of the earliest attempts at suburbanization in the area. The Spring was intact as late as the early 1900's. It had a Victorian gazebo and a heavy, raised platform, that held large wooden barrels of the water.

The mineral waters of the Spa Spring once drew visitors to Bladensburg, for they were renowned for their beneficial and curative powers. Surrounding the spring was a park, scene of many picnics and political gatherings throughout the nineteenth century. The spring was located at the north end of Water Street (now Baltimore Boulevard), now an industrial area. Courtesy of the Prince George's County Historical Society
